Financial reporting valuation services are professional services provided by third-party valuation agencies, accounting consulting firms, financial advisors, asset appraisal agencies, or valuation platforms. These services cover fair value measurement, purchase price allocation, impairment testing, valuation of complex financial instruments, portfolio valuation, and valuation disclosure support required for companies to prepare financial statements in accordance with IFRS, US GAAP, Chinese accounting standards, and other local accounting standards. Financial reporting valuation services focus on valuation services for financial reporting scenarios such as business combinations, goodwill and intangible asset impairment, long-term asset impairment, portfolio fair value, employee stock-based payments, convertible instruments, preferred stock, warrants, contingent consideration, embedded derivatives, and post-bankruptcy reorganization asset and liability revaluation. Key deliverables include valuation models, valuation reports, key assumption memoranda, market comparability analysis, discount rate analysis, intangible asset value allocation, recoverable amount analysis of asset groups, audit support working papers, and financial statement disclosure support documents.
