Abstracts

Alumina is a compound with high hardness. More than 90% of the alumina in the world is used as raw material for the production of metallic aluminum. This type is called metallurgical grade alumina. The rest we call fine alumina, which refers to the general name of special alumina, aluminum hydroxide and aluminum-containing compounds other than alumina for metallurgical purposes. Fine aluminum hydroxide is a branch of it. Fine aluminum hydroxide is a high-purity, high-quality aluminum hydroxide product that usually has a fine particle size and uniform particle morphology. Fine aluminum hydroxide is commonly used in various industrial applications such as catalysts, filler materials, ceramic materials, coatings, electronic materials, etc.

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Fine Precipitated Alumina Hydroxide (FPH) market size was valued at US$ million in 2023 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD million by 2030 with a CAGR of %during review period.

With the continuous expansion of application fields, the market demand for ultrafine precipitated aluminum hydroxide will continue to grow. Especially in emerging fields such as environmental protection, new energy, and electronic information, the demand for ultrafine precipitated aluminum hydroxide will continue to increase.
