The global Fishing Line market size is expected to reach $ 865.9 million by 2029, rising at a market growth of 3.4% CAGR during the forecast period (2023-2029).

Global major manufacturers of fishing line are PureFishing, Toray, Sufix International, Sunline, SHIMANO INC, DAIWA, etc. The top five manufacturers have a sales share of more than 15%, and the largest manufacturer is PureFishing. Fishing line production regions are mainly located in North America, Europe, China, Japan etc., occupying more than 90% production market share and North America is the largest production region. In terms of product categories, monofilament forms has the highest market share at nearly 50%, followed by braided forms at over 35%. In terms of its applications, freshwater fishing is its number one application area with a market share of over 85%.

A fishing line is a flexible, high-tensile cord used in angling to tether and pull in fish, in conjunction with at least one hook. Fishing lines are usually pulled by and stored in a reel, but can also be retrieved by hand, with a fixed attachment to the end of a rod, or via a motor.

Fishing lines generally resemble a long, ultra-thin rope, with important attributes including length, material, weight and thickness. Other factors relevant to certain fishing environments include breaking strength, knot strength, UV resistance, castability, limpness, stretch, abrasion resistance, and visibility. Traditional fishing lines are made of silk, while most modern lines are made from synthetic polymers such as nylon, polyethylene or polyvinylidene fluoride ('fluorocarbon') and may come in monofilament or braided (multifilament) forms.

This report studies the global Fishing Line production, demand, key manufacturers, and
