Abstracts

Flavor is the sensory impression of a food or other substance, and is determined mainly by the chemical senses of taste and smell. The 'trigeminal senses', which detect chemical irritants in the mouth and throat as well as temperature and texture, are also very important to the overall Gestalt of flavor perception. The flavor of the food, as such, can be altered with natural or artificial flavorants, which affect these senses. Flavorant is defined as a substance that gives another substance flavor, altering the characteristics of the solute, causing it to become sweet, sour, tangy, etc. Although the terms 'flavoring' or 'flavorant' in common language denote the combined chemical sensations of taste and smell, the same terms are usually used in the fragrance and flavors industry to refer to edible chemicals and extracts that alter the flavor of food and food products through the sense of smell. Due to the high cost or unavailability of natural flavor extracts, most commercial flavorants are nature-identical, which means that they are the chemical equivalent of natural flavors but chemically synthesized rather than being extracted from the source materials. Identification of nature-identical flavorants are done using technology such as headspace techniques.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Flavors in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

As Chinese overall economic downward trend in the past few years, and international economic situation is complicated, in the next few years there will be many uncertainties. Coupled with flavors industry in short supply on the market in the past few years, more and more companies have entered into flavors industry, the current demand for flavors product is relatively low. Ordinary Flavors products on the market do not sell well; low-end product has excess capacity, and high-end product is in short supply.

Flavors product demand market has a certain space, but basically showing the scarcity of high-end products and excess capacity of low-end products. There is increasing demand for high-end products.

As large demand of high-end products at home and abroad, many companies began to enter the field of high-end. Currently, the Chinese Flavors industry begins to transit to high-end Flavors products, as well as extends in the resource-rich land and downstream industry chain.

The worldwide market for Flavors is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
