Abstracts

Foam trays made from a vast variety of polymers are used across pharmaceuticals, food, and a number of industrial applications.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Foam Tray in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. The food packaging segment accounted for the major shares of the foam tray market. The food packaging industry demands the use of foam trays as they are more hygienic than other forms of packaging, such as paper-pulp cartons which were used earlier for packaging of perishable goods especially eggs. These trays are less expensive when compared with other types of packaging and come with the added benefit of being disposable after use. The demand for takeaway foods has fostered the demand for food trays in the foam serving trays market.

The polystyrene segment accounted for the major share of the foam serving trays market. The polystyrene foam can be either expanded polystyrene (EPS) or extruded polystyrene (XPS). Expanded polystyrene is the widely used polystyrene foam for producing foam trays. It helps in retaining good hygiene and sanitary conditions.

The worldwide market for Foam Tray is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
