Abstracts

Glass fiber foundry filters are widely used in non-ferrous alloy casting processes such as gravity die casting (GDC), low pressure die-casting (LPDC), sand mold casting, and shell mold casting. Aluminum, tin, lead, zinc, and magnesium are used as casting materials due to their relatively low melting point. During the casting process, the molten metal flows through the filter mesh. The glass fiber filter removes slag and other impurities from the molten metal without disintegrating it, as it passes through it to fill the die.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Glass Fiber Foundry Filter in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. One of the key drivers that will stimulate the growth of the market in the coming years is the growth of the aerospace and defense sector. The aerospace and defense sector increasingly employ non-ferrous metals die casting process along with forging techniques to reduce the weight of an aircraft and increase its fuel efficiency. Various aircraft bodies and corresponding parts are manufactured using aluminum and other lightweight alloys because these metals reduce the weight of the overall aircraft to a great extent. With the rising number of air passengers and the hike in defense budgets in major countries such as the US, the UK, Japan, France, and several Middle Eastern countries, the aerospace and defense industries will witness considerable growth. This will consequently increase the demand for die cast parts and die cast machinery in the production of commercial and defense aircraft and related equipment, which in turn, will boost the growth of the glass fiber foundry filter market.

APAC accounted for the majority market shares during 2016. The high demand for aluminum die casting from the automotive industry will fuel the market's growth in this region since most of the production of the lightweight automobiles is concentrated in countries such as China, Japan, and India. Additionally, the growing adoption of automation technology in aluminum die casting to achieve enhanced productivity, will also augment the growth prospects of the glass fiber foundry filter market in this region.

The worldwide market for Glass Fiber Foundry Filter is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
