Abstracts

A golf rangefinder is a handheld device that uses different technologies to track the distance between the club and the flag. It is mostly used with a camera or a gun. The two types of rangefinders are laser golf rangefinders (uses laser beam technology) and GPS golf rangefinders (uses GPS technology).

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Golf Rangefinder in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. The approval of DMDs in golf tournaments will have a positive impact on the market's growth during the next few years. To enhance the experience of the game, the golf-governing bodies have allowed the use of DMDs if the local community rules allow it. This rule defined by local committees on the use of DMDs allows the limited use of laser and GPS rangefinders on smartphones. However, the devices are limited to be used only for measuring the distance but not slope, wind speed, or club recommendations, in turn, creating several business opportunities for golf equipment manufacturers. This, in turn, driving the need for golf distance finders market and laser golf rangefinders market.

The Americas accounted for the maximum growth of the golf equipment market during 2017. With the growing popularity of smart golf rangefinders in the advanced economies including the US, this region will continue its dominance in the market during the next few years as well.

The worldwide market for Golf Rangefinder is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
