Abstracts

The gooseberry is a species of Ribes (which also includes the currants). It is native to Europe, the Caucasus and northern Africa. The species is also sparingly naturalized in scattered locations in North America. Gooseberry bushes produce an edible fruit and are grown on both a commercial and domestic basis. Its native distribution is unclear, since it may have escaped from cultivation and become naturalized.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Gooseberry Products in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

The rising influence of online retailing is one of the key factors driving the growth of the gooseberry products market. The growing e-commerce businesses worldwide aids the vendors in enhancing their profitability, as the growing online and e-commerce channels supports B2B and B2C operations. Owing to the growing number of Internet users and easy accessibility to the Internet, the amount of money spent online per transaction and the number of online transactions is rising steadily.

APAC is expected to be the major revenue contributor to the gooseberry market throughout the forecast period. Consumers in this region are increasingly becoming aware about the health benefits of superfoodproducts, driving the sales volume for gooseberry products. Also, the increasing number of supermarkets, hypermarkets, discount store, convenience stores, and food specialist stores is further driving the growth of the gooseberry products market in this region.

The worldwide market for Gooseberry Products is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
