Drainage grating usually refers to the grid-like covering used in the drainage system, usually used in drainage ditches, road drainage ditches, underground passages, underground garages and other places. The function of the drainage ditch is to prevent clogging, and at the same time, it can filter out some larger debris, so that the water can flow smoothly, thereby effectively preventing the occurrence of waterlogging. Drain gratings are made of various materials, such as metal, plastic, etc., and their shapes are also different, such as square, round, triangular, etc. The choice of gutter gratings with different shapes and materials can be selected according to the actual situation and needs.
