Abstracts

The global Hard Coated Brake Discs market size is expected to reach $ 569.6 million by 2029, rising at a market growth of 8.1% CAGR during the forecast period (2023-2029).

Global key players of Hard Coated Brake Discs include Continental, TRW (ZF Friedrichshafen), Buderus, Delphi Technologies (BorgWarner) and Brembo, etc. The top five players hold a share over 55%. Europe is the largest market, has a share about 50%. In terms of product type, Tungsten Carbide Coated is the largest segment, occupied for a share of about 60%, and in terms of application, Passenger Car has a share about 90 percent.

Brake wear, tire wear, and fossil fuel combustion are the causes of severe fine particle pollution in all vehicles equipped with internal combustion engines, electric or hybrid power drives. The automotive industry needs alternative methods and technological solutions to reduce brake wear. The new hard coating process provides high-quality anti-corrosion and wear-resistant hard material coatings for brake discs. When the coating configuration is optimized, it can be combined with the brake disc to achieve optimal friction matching in terms of braking performance and minimum fine particle emissions.

The braking system of passenger cars has gradually evolved from front and rear drum type to front and rear disc type, front and rear disc type, as well as better ventilation discs and even high-performance car brake discs with lines and holes. In order to improve braking force, the brake discs are made of hard alloy with a special coating, and the brake pads are compressed and bonded with various metal powders.

This report studies the global Hard Coated Brake Discs production, demand, key manufacturers, and key regions.
