High waisted yoga pants are a type of activewear designed for yoga and other physical activities, as well as for casual wear. Characterized by a waistband that sits above the natural waistline, typically around the navel or higher, these pants offer enhanced core support during workouts. They are usually made from stretchy, breathable fabrics like spandex - nylon blends that conform to the body's shape, allowing for a wide range of movement. The high waisted design not only provides a flattering silhouette but also helps to smooth and contour the midsection, making them a popular choice among fitness enthusiasts and those seeking comfortable, stylish everyday bottoms.
