The global Hip and Joint Supplement for Cat market size is expected to reach $ 437 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 7.4% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

A hip and joint supplement for cats is a dietary product designed to support and improve the health of a cat's hips and joints. Cats, like humans and other animals, can experience issues with their joints and mobility as they age or due to certain health conditions. In 2025, global Hip and Joint Supplement for Cat production reached approximately 21,433 k units, with an average global market price of around 12 US$/Unit. The production capacity of Hip and Joint Supplement for Cat reaches 26,800 k units, and the industry's gross profit margin is approximately between 20% and 40%.

Aging Cat Population: With advancements in veterinary care and nutrition, cats are living longer lives. As they age, they become more susceptible to joint issues such as arthritis. Pet owners are increasingly looking for solutions to improve their cats' mobility and comfort. Humanization of Pets: As pets are considered part of the family, pet owners are willing to invest in their well-being. This trend has led to an increased demand for premium products, including high-quality joint supplements. Product Variety and Innovation: The market has seen the introduction of a wide range of joint supplements with varying formulations and ingredients. These products cater to different needs and preferences, making it easier for pet owners to find the right solution for their cats. E-commerce and Convenience: The rise of e-commerce platforms has made it easier for pet owners to access a variety of pet supplements, including hip and joint products. The convenience of online shopping has contributed to the growth of the market.
