Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Homoharringtonine market size was valued at US$ million in 2024 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD million by 2031 with a CAGR of %during review period.

Homoharringtonine is an alkaloid obtained from the Tricuspidae plant, Tritaxus, or plants of the same genus. It has an inhibitory effect on the incorporation of 3H-labeled asparagine into proteins, and it also has an effect on the incorporation of 3H-labeled thymidine into DNA. Homoharringtonine can also induce cell differentiation, increase the content of cAMP, and inhibit glycoprotein synthesis. Under the electron microscope, it can be seen that the chromatin concentrates and condenses toward the edge of the nucleus, forms chromosome clumps and bulges out of the nucleus, develops into 'litter bodies' where the nucleus separates, and finally the nucleus fragments. After intravenous injection of 3H-labeled homoharringtonine to rats, 15 minutes later the radioactivity was distributed in the kidney, liver, bone marrow, heart, and gastrointestinal tract.

For the treatment of acute myeloid leukemia, combined with VCR, Ara-C, and prednisone, can improve the curative effect. It also has a certain effect on acute monocytic leukemia and malignant lymphoma. It can also be used for polycythemia vera, chronic myelogenous leukemia and promyelocytic leukemia.
