Abstracts

The global Industrial Duct Cleaning Services market size is expected to reach $ 1402 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 7.9% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Industrial duct cleaning service refers to the comprehensive and in-depth cleaning of the pipeline system in industrial equipment by a professional cleaning team using advanced cleaning equipment, tools, technology and environmentally friendly cleaning agents to remove dirt, grease, sediment and other impurities attached to the inner wall of the pipeline, restore the normal flow capacity of the pipeline, and ensure the smooth progress of industrial production and the long-term stable operation of the equipment.

The Industrial Duct Cleaning Services market is driven by increasingly stringent workplace safety, air quality, and environmental compliance regulations across manufacturing, food processing, pharmaceuticals, chemicals, power generation, and commercial facilities. Accumulation of dust, combustible particles, grease, and chemical residues in ventilation and exhaust systems not only reduces HVAC efficiency but also raises risks of fire, explosion, contamination, and worker health issues, prompting companies to adopt routine and preventive duct cleaning programs. Growing awareness of occupational health standards and indoor air quality requirements, especially in sensitive production environments, has further elevated the importance of professional cleaning services. In addition, higher energy costs are encouraging facility operators to maintain clean duct systems to improve airflow efficiency and reduce operational expenses. Expansion of industrial infrastructure, aging ventilation systems, and the integration of advanced inspection technologies such as robotic cleaning tools and remote video diagnostics collectively support sustained growth in the industrial duct cleaning services market.
