The global Industrial Nonwovens market size is expected to reach $ 60260 million by 2029, rising at a market growth of 2.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2023-2029).

Global key players of industrial nonwovens include Berry Global, Freudenberg, Ahlstrom-Munksjö, etc. The top three players hold a share about 16%. China is the largest producer, has a share about 53%, followed by Europe and North America, with share 20% and 14%, respectively. The largest market is Asia-Pacific, with a share about 51%, followed by Europe and North America, with share 22% and 20%, separately.

Nonwoven fabrics are broadly defined as sheet or web structures bonded together by entangling fiber or filaments (and by perforating films) mechanically, thermally or chemically. They are flat or tufted porous sheets that are made directly from separate fibres, molten plastic or plastic film. They are not made by weaving or knitting and do not require converting the fibres to yarn. Typically, a certain percentage of recycled fabrics and oil-based materials are used in nonwoven fabrics. Nonwoven fabrics are engineered fabrics that may be single-use, have a limited life, or be very durable. Nonwoven fabrics provide specific functions such as absorbency, liquid repellence, resilience, stretch, softness, strength, flame retardancy, washability, cushioning, thermal insulation, acoustic insulation, filtration, use as a bacterial barrier and sterility. These properties are often combined to create fabrics suited for specific jobs, while achieving a good balance between product use-life and cost.
