Abstracts

Inorganic pigments are chemical compounds not based on carbon, are usually metallic salts precipitated from solutions.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Inorganic Pigment in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Inorganic pigments have a much larger average particle size than organic pigments. The optimum particle size needed to achieve maximum light scattering – resulting in opacity – is between 400 and 800 nm (wavelength). The particles sizes of inorganic pigments are much closer to this optimum than those of organic pigments, which tend to be much lower. This is the main reason why most organic pigments are considered transparent and most inorganic pigments opaque.

The worldwide market for Inorganic Pigment is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
