Abstracts

Isotropic graphite is a kind of graphite material that crystals are disorderly arranged while having an isotropic structure. Isotropic graphite is a ultra-fine grain graphite used for applications where the mechanical properties of other fine grain graphite are inadequate. Its name is derived from the method of production: During the forming process the material is isostatically pressed i.e. with equal pressure from every side. Therefore the material shows typically an isotropic property behavior.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Isotropic and Extruded Graphite in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Nowadays, in the developed countries, the Isotropic and Extruded Graphite industry is on a higher level than other countries, the world's large enterprises are mainly concentrated in Japan, USA, European and China. Meanwhile, the leading companies have variety products, strong R & D capability, the technical level is in a leading position.

Although sales of Isotropic and Extruded Graphite brought a lot of opportunities, the study group recommends the new entrants just having money but without technical advantage and downstream support do not enter into the Isotropic and Extruded Graphite field.
