Kraft Honeycomb Paperboard is a lightweight structural paperboard made with kraft paper honeycomb cores and surface liners. It provides cushioning, compression resistance, and material efficiency, making it suitable for packaging, pallets, furniture, doors, building panels, and transport protection.

The industrial chain includes upstream kraft paper, recycled pulp, adhesives, liners, coatings, and cutting materials. Midstream covers honeycomb core forming, bonding, lamination, pressing, cutting, drying, and inspection. Downstream applications mainly include protective packaging, logistics pallets, furniture panels, door cores, construction panels, and industrial cushioning materials.

Green packaging replacement and logistics buffer protection demand support the steady development of kraft honeycomb paperboard. It has light weight, high toughness and shockproof buffering performance, replacing traditional plastic and wood packaging.

Cost advantage and recyclable feature make it widely used in industrial packaging and logistics transportation.

This report studies the global Kraft Honeycomb Paperboard production, demand, key manufacturers, and key regions.
