LED lamps are energy efficient, possess a long lifetime and have a service life of 50,000 hours or more. They are ideal in situations where lamps are required to be switched on and off frequently and can be easily dimmed. As LED lamps do not wash out colors like fluorescent lamps, they are perfect for displays and retail applications as well. Besides, LED lighting has zero UV emissions and they can also run on low voltage power supply. Due to these distinct advantages of LED lighting, the global market for LED lighting is expanding at a fast pace and LED lighting has the potential to revolutionize the lighting sector.

Scope of the Report:

Due to environmental considerations, governments all across the world are recognizing the advantages of LED lighting systems and are insisting on the implementation of specific standards for lighting products and at the same time restricting the use of incandescent lighting products so that energy can be saved and carbon dioxide emissions can be curbed. Besides, the use of LED lighting leads to an overall cutting of operating costs, and this in turn is driving the growth of the global LED lighting market.

The worldwide market for LED Lighting Solutions is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.

This report focuses on the LED Lighting Solutions in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.
