The global Legal Transaction Management Software market size is expected to reach $ million by 2029, rising at a market growth of % CAGR during the forecast period (2023-2029).

Legal transaction management software centralizes and streamlines the legal transaction process. Transactions can involve dozens of people and thousands of documents across multiple organizations. Legal transaction management solutions act as the central repository and source of truth for all documents related to a particular transaction. Legal teams responsible for facilitating a transaction use legal transaction management software to streamline the process of signing, sending, and updating documents. These tools streamline the process and produce a closing book for each transaction. All legal transaction management tools can handle flexible document signing regulations, but some tools can also handle non-flexible rules. Solutions in this category often provide transaction checklists as well as reporting functionality for a real-time view of the status of a transaction. Legal transaction management software almost always integrates with e-signature software to provide in-solution digital document signing.
