Abstracts

Libraries and archives collect, preserve and provide public access to various forms of digital and physical media such as books, journals and newspapers. The Libraries and Archives industry is primarily funded by governments based on the public good it provides, with most industry services provided to users free of charge. Government funding accounts for more than 90% of industry revenue. As a result, trends in federal, state and local government funding strongly influence industry performance. The remaining share of industry revenue is typically derived from fees and late charges as well as private funding and donations.

Scope of the Report:

This report studies the Libraries and Archives market status and outlook of Global and major regions, from angles of players, countries, product types and end industries; this report analyzes the top players in global market, and splits the Libraries and Archives market by product type and applications/end industries.

The Libraries and Archives industry is split into three service segments: national and state public libraries, local government libraries and national and state archives. Government expenditure accounts for approximately 90% of industry revenue, with the remaining share derived from own-source channels such as hiring fees, database access and private funding. Local government libraries account for over half of industry revenue in the current year. Local government libraries hold generalised collections that aim to cater to all community groups. The number of local government libraries has declined over the past five years, with most of these closures coming from municipal libraries.

The global Libraries and Archives market is valued at xx million USD in 2017 and is expected to reach xx million USD by the end of 2023, growing at a CAGR of xx% between 2017 and 2023.

The Asia-Pacific will occupy for more market share in following years, especially in China, also fast growing India and Southeast Asia regions.

North America, especially The United States, will still play an important role which cannot be ignored. Any changes from United States might affect the development trend of Libraries and Archives.
