Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global LMS and LXP Tools market size was valued at USD 17570 million in 2023 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD 59470 million by 2030 with a CAGR of 19.0% during review period.

For many decades, the LMS (learning management system) has dominated the learning technology space. However, a new learning platform called the LXP recently emerged to challenge it. This new contender has shook up the industry by finding its own niche within the learning systems market..The primary drivers for an organisation to invest in elearning (and a learning management system to, well, manage it) are essential knowledge / skills development and regulatory compliance. This is about training that needs to get done and the LMS simply helps the L&D department to roll it out, track progress / completion, and analyse the success of the content and individuals or groups of learners. An LXP is more about creating and nurturing a culture of learning within an organisation.

The top three global Learning Management System (LMS) and Learning Experience Platform (LXP) companies are Udemy Business, Litmos, and Adobe Learning Manager, which together hold about 4% of the market share. The industry is relatively fragmented, with the top five companies holding a total of about 6% market share and the top 10 companies holding a total of about 7% market share. In terms of sales market, the United States occupies the largest market share, accounting for about 40%. In terms of its product type, the products can be divided into two categories: Learning Management System (LMS) and Learning Experience Platform (LXP), with LMS occupying a dominant position and holding about 90% of the market share. In terms of its education industry applications, it dominates in SMB applications with about 80% of the market share.
