Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Long-stay Travel Insurance market size was valued at USD million in 2022 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD million by 2029 with a CAGR of % during review period. The influence of COVID-19 and the Russia-Ukraine War were considered while estimating market sizes. There has been a growing trend of individuals and families embarking on long-term travel adventures, whether for work, study, or leisure. This has led to an increased demand for travel insurance policies that provide coverage for extended periods, ranging from a few months to a year or more. Given the longer duration of travel, there is an emphasis on comprehensive medical coverage in long-stay travel insurance policies. This includes coverage for emergency medical expenses, hospitalization, medical evacuation, and repatriation. Insurers are increasingly offering higher coverage limits and extended benefits for medical emergencies. Long-stay travelers often engage in adventurous activities and sports during their trips. Insurers are offering coverage for a wide range of adventure activities, such as scuba diving, hiking, skiing, and more. These specialized coverage options address the specific risks associated with these activities.
