Magic carpets are a type of surface lift used in ski resorts to transport skiers and snowboarders uphill. Unlike traditional chairlifts or gondolas, magic carpets are conveyor belt systems typically made of a moving rubberized belt or series of connected belts. These belts are often housed in a covered or uncovered track, and users can stand on the moving surface to be transported uphill.

Magic carpets are especially popular for beginners and children, as they provide a gentle and easy way to access beginner slopes without the challenges of using a chairlift. They are also more user-friendly for individuals who are new to skiing or snowboarding.
