Abstracts

This report studies the Metallocene Catalyst market, Metallocene catalysts are the combination of a transition metal and cyclopentadienyl. It is a molecular structure with a well-defined single catalytic site, consisting of an organometallic coordination compound in which one or two cyclopentadienyl rings (with or without substituents) are bonded to a central transition-metal atom; used to produce uniform polyolefins with unique structures and physical properties.

Metallocene catalysis is a rich and fertile technology with major implications for the polyolefins industry.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Metallocene Catalyst in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

Geographically, among current producers in global, North America and Asia Pacific have the largest consumption of metallocene catalyst. North America accounts for 49.04% of the consumption market share during 2017 and is predicted to retain its leadership until the end of 2023. Asia Pacific is the second largest leader with the production market share of 34.48% in 2017.

By application, metallocene catalyst market is segmented into metallocene polyethylene (PE) and metallocene polypropylene (PP) application. The metallocene polyethylene (PE) sector dominates the market during 2017 with a market share of 72.78%. This research report predicts this segment to grow at a CAGR of around 5.97% during the forecast period. Other downstream fields such as metallocene polypropylene (PP) application take account for about 7.02% in 2017.

The worldwide market for Metallocene Catalyst is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly 6.8% over the next five years, will reach 470 million US$ in 2023, from 310 million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
