Abstracts

This report studies the 10-Deacetylbaaccatin III market. 10-Deacetylbaaccatin III, also known as 10-DAB or 10-DAB III, is a closely related natural organic compounds isolated from dried needles and small branches of the European yew tree (Taxus baccata). 10-Deacetylbaaccatin III is a precursor to the anti-cancer drug docetaxel (Taxotere). paclitaxel (taxol); cabazitaxel. 10-10-deacetylbaaccatin III was found to selectively inhibit the growth of L. DONOVANI intracellular amastigotes within J774 murine macrophages in vitro at nanomolar concentrations with an IC(50) value of 70 nM.

SCOPE OF THE REPORT:

This report focuses on the 10-Deacetylbaaccatin III in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

As new companies enter the market for finished paclitaxel, bulk demand will increase as competition forces down prices, the study notes, adding that, with the drug becoming more affordable, physicians are expected to prescribe it more freely. However, while demand may be rising, paclitaxel is derived from a natural resource, and its long-term availability is in question.

Yew trees are slow-growing, and the extraction process requires numerous trees to supply an adequate amount, it says. The possible scarcity of the product is spurring sales, especially to the research sector where large stocks are necessary for proper experimentation. However, the report notes that enterprising companies have found ways to circumvent this issue and increase supply.

With advances in technology, new and better ways of extracting paclitaxel have evolved, with plant cell culture techniques and genetic engineering also emerging as fruitful methods of enhancing production says F&S. These methods have resulted in ample and continuous supplies, which is expected to boost the quantities of bulk paclitaxel, and subsequently augment the revenues generated by finished products, the report adds.

The worldwide market for 10-Deacetylbaaccatin III is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly 4.3% over the next five years, will reach 74 million US$ in 2023, from 58 million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
