Abstracts

Dairy products are high energy-yielding products made from raw milk. Since milk can be easily contaminated because of lactose fermentation, dairy products need to be packed in durable materials, so they reach the customer in desirable condition. Increase in demand for milk and dairy products has brought a transformation in the packaging industry.

SCOPE OF THE REPORT:

This report focuses on the Dairy Packaging in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. In consumption market, the growth rate of global consumption is smooth relatively. Europe and North America are still the mainly consumption regions due to dietary habit, advanced production technology and rapid development of economy. According to the report, the growing urbanization and higher levels of disposable income have increased the consumption of dairy products. The increase in per capita income has elevated the purchasing power of consumers worldwide, which has a big implication on the global dairy products packaging market. Transformation of the traditional system of dairy farming into the current technological set-up has also brought the entire dairy market to an advanced stage.

The worldwide market for Dairy Packaging is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
