Abstracts

A facsimile (commonly referred to as a fax) is a production of an exact copy of a document by electronic scanning, and the subsequent transmission of the resulting data. Faxes are transmitted over ordinary phone lines using fax machines.

SCOPE OF THE REPORT:

This report focuses on the Fax Machines in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Panasonic, Canon, Brother and Philips captured the top four revenue share spots in the fax machine market in 2015. Panasonic dominated with 17.98% revenue share, followed by Canon with 12.99% revenue share, Brother with 11.49% revenue share and Philips with 9.99% revenue share.

In the United States and Europe, fax machines have pretty much disappeared. But in Japan, where they've long been an essential feature of homes as well as offices, faxes are still in widespread use. They were even deployed by authorities in 2011 to disseminate some information during the Fukushima nuclear disaster. Now the greatest fax use still occurs in Japan, especially among older people who grew up writing by hand, not typing on a keypad.

The worldwide market for Fax Machines is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
