Abstracts

Textile chemicals are widely used in the processing of fabrics. Some of the main processes include dyeing, bleaching, printing, conditioning, and finishing. Functional textile finishing agents are used to enhance properties of fabrics and impart special functions to the fabrics. For instance, antimicrobial finishes provide bacterial and fungal resistance to fabrics and kill odor-causing bacteria.

SCOPE OF THE REPORT:

This report focuses on the Functional Textile Finishing Agents in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

The textile industry extensively uses different types of release finishing agents and functional repellents such as dirt repellent finishing agents, mosquito repellents, and oil repellents. Topical finishing agents such as water and oil repellents are used on textile fabrics to provide protection against water, oil, greasy materials, and soil. The functional textile finishing agents market is experiencing growth in the repellent and release segment due the growing demand for textile finishing agents such as polysiloxanes and fluorochemicals that are used to improve the softness, crease resistance, and water repellency of the textile material.

The adoption of smart textiles such as flame-retardant, repellent and release, and anti-microbial fabrics is increasing in APAC. This will have a positive impact on the functional textile finishing agents market. The consumption of functional textile finishing agents is high in APAC due to the rising production rate of synthetic and woven cotton fabric or textiles. Factors such as low labor cost, availability of cheap raw materials, and economic development are the major factors to the growth of this market in APAC.

The worldwide market for Functional Textile Finishing Agents is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
