Abstracts

Light gauge steel is a thin-walled steel skeleton, using continuous hot-dip galvanized steel sheet (strip) or color coated sheet (strip) based on continuous hot-dip galvanized sheet (strip) as raw materials, produced by cold-bending process, widely applied in hotels, terminal buildings, stations, playgrounds, shopping malls, factories, office buildings, old building renovation, interior decoration, roof and other places.

SCOPE OF THE REPORT:

This report focuses on the Light Gauge Steel in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

There are thousands of manufacturers in total all around the world. China has become the largest producer since 2013, accounting for nearly 1/4 of the global production, but most of them are low-end products. Europe and North America Manufacturers generally produce higher-end products.

Due to the product features like simple production process, accessible raw materials, high transportation cost, the imports and exports are relatively low. Many transnational leaders of the industry like Knauf, Gyproc, and Armstrong generally have plants in the major markets around the world.

The price of Light Gauge Steel is highly correlated with steel as nearly 90% of the production cost is from raw materials. With steel price has dropped sharply in the few past years, the price of Light Gauge Steel has declined rapidly. However, the steel industry appears some recovery sign recently, the price is likely to rise a little.

The worldwide market for Light Gauge Steel is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly

-2.7% over the next five years, will reach 5240 million US$ in 2023, from 6180 million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
