Abstracts

The global Online Gambling Platform market size is expected to reach $ 203174 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 6.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Online Gambling Platform refer to all real-money wagering activities conducted over the internet via websites, mobile apps, or other digital platforms, rather than in a physical venue like a casino or betting shop.

In industry practice, online gambling and betting typically includes products such as sports betting, online casino games (slots, roulette, blackjack, etc.), poker, bingo, and sometimes online lotteries. Players register an account, deposit funds using electronic payment methods, place bets or play games remotely, and can withdraw any winnings through the same or similar channels.

The sector is usually regulated on a country- or state-by-state basis, with licensed operators required to follow rules on consumer protection, responsible gambling, anti-money-laundering, and data security. Companies in this space may operate direct-to-consumer platforms (online sportsbooks and casinos) or provide B2B technology and content (platforms, odds feeds, and games) to licensed operators.

After a period of very strong double-digit expansion in 2020?2024 (CAGR 12.42%), we view the sector as transitioning into a more mature yet still robust growth phase. Incremental growth is increasingly driven by product-mix optimisation, ongoing regulatory development, and deeper penetration among younger, digital-native customer segments.

From a competitive landscape perspective, we characterise the sector as structurally fragmented, combining a small number of large global groups with a long tail of regional and niche operators. In 2024, the ?Global Other? category still represents about 66.37% of total market revenues, underscoring the breadth of smaller players. Among disclosed companies, Flutter Entertainment stands out as the clear market leader, rising from US$ 5,662 million in 2020 to US$ 14,048 million in 2024 and increasing its global share from 7.85% to 12.19%; it is projected to reach US$ 15,940 million in 2025, with share edging up to 12.85%, reflecting a highly diversified, multi-brand and multi-region portfolio.
