Abstracts

The global Organic Dairy Products market size is expected to reach $ 35440 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 7.0% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Organic Dairy Products is a type of Dairy Products that made from organic certification (Such as EU-Eco-regulation, USA NOP, etc.). Dairy products or milk products are a type of food produced from or containing the milk of mammals, primarily cattle, water buffaloes, goats, sheep, and camels. Dairy products include food items like yogurt, cheese, and butter.

Organic dairy products are dairy products produced in accordance with organic farming standards and production methods. In organic farming, the use of chemically synthesized pesticides, fertilizers, hormones and genetic modification technology is prohibited, while focusing on ecological balance and the welfare of animals and plants. The production of organic dairy products follows a series of strict regulations to ensure that the entire process from pasture to dairy processing meets the requirements of organic farming. In organic dairy farming, cattle usually have more grazing space, and the drinking water source must also meet organic standards. The feed for organic dairy cows mainly comes from organic farms and must not contain fertilizer and pesticide residues. This helps to produce more natural and healthy dairy products. The use of additives such as preservatives and artificial colors is also strictly restricted in the production process of organic dairy products to ensure the purity and pollution-free nature of the products.

North America and Europe are the two largest markets in the world, accounting for most of the market share. China's organic dairy market has developed rapidly in recent years, with the market size expanding, and both supply and demand growing steadily.

Although the Chinese market is relatively small, as people's requirements for health and quality increase, organic dairy products have huge growth potential in the Chinese market. Danone, Arla Foods Plc., Dairy Farmers of America Inc., Parmalat S.P.A. and Groupe Lactalis SA are the top five manufacturers in the industry, with a combined market share of approximately 40%.
