The global Organic Green Tea Extract market size is expected to reach $ 216 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 4.9% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Organic Green Tea Extract is a natural botanical extract produced from organically cultivated tea leaves of Camellia sinensis under certified organic farming standards, without the use of synthetic pesticides, chemical fertilizers, or genetically modified materials. It is manufactured through organic-compliant extraction, concentration, purification, and drying processes. Organic Green Tea Extract contains valuable bioactive compounds, including tea polyphenols, catechins, epigallocatechin gallate (EGCG), L-theanine, and other natural antioxidants. Compared with conventional Green Tea Extract, Organic Green Tea Extract places greater emphasis on traceable raw materials, environmentally responsible production, and organic certification compliance. It is widely used in premium dietary supplements, functional foods, natural beverages, beauty and wellness products, and other clean-label applications, driven by increasing consumer demand for natural, sustainable, and high-quality botanical ingredients. In 2025, the global Organic Green Tea Extract market is estimated to reach an annual production volume of 1,250 tons, with an average selling price of around USD 120/kg, representing a total market value of USD 150 million. Driven by increasing consumer demand for natural, organic, and clean-label health products, Organic Green Tea Extract is experiencing growing adoption in premium dietary supplements, functional foods, natural beverages, and beauty wellness products. Due to higher requirements for organic certification, raw material traceability, and production standards, manufacturers typically achieve an average gross margin of approximately 40%, with premium products such as high-purity EGCG, certified organic extracts, and customized formulations generating even higher profitability.
