Patient positioning systems are the patient handling devices used to keep the patient in a required position or to immobilize the patient during surgery. These devices also used during the cancer therapy/ radiation therapy or precision therapy.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Patient Positioning System in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. In 2017, the hospital segment accounted for the largest share of the market. This is because all types of surgeries, including cardiac, head & neck, bariatric, thoracic, gynecological, and orthopedic surgeries, are widely performed in hospitals. In addition, growth in public healthcare awareness and increasing affordability of treatments are the major factors supporting the growth of the market for hospitals, particularly in developing countries.

The market is dominated by North America, followed by Europe, however, the Asian region is expected to witness the highest growth during the forecast period. The presence of emerging economies like China and India; large population and rising prevalence of chronic diseases ; improving standards of living; and growing demand for quality medical care are some of the key factors driving the high growth of this regional segment.

The worldwide market for Patient Positioning System is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
