Abstracts

Pellets for horse bedding are compressed wood or paper pellets used as an alternative to traditional bedding materials such as straw or shavings in horse stalls. These pellets are typically made from recycled wood or paper products and are manufactured to be highly absorbent and low-dust.

The process of creating pellets involves compressing raw materials into small, dense pellets that expand when exposed to moisture. When used as bedding, the pellets absorb moisture such as urine, expanding and forming a soft, absorbent layer that helps keep the stall dry and clean. This can be particularly beneficial for horse owners looking to minimize dust and allergens in the stable environment.

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Pellets for Horse Bedding market size was valued at US$ 116 million in 2023 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD 182 million by 2030 with a CAGR of 6.0% during review period.
