Abstracts

The global Pickleball Rackets market size is expected to reach $ 584 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 8.4% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032). The name 'pickball' comes from a dog belonging to one of its inventors; during the initial invention and testing phases, the dog, named Pickleball, often carried the ball around. Pickleball is also called pickle ball. A pickle racket is a tool used in the sport of pickleball. It typically consists of a core and a surface/skin. Pickleball is an exciting sport involving the use of a pickle net, racket, and perforated plastic ball. Pickleball is a sport of hitting a ball with a racket, originating in Ben Burridge Island, Seattle, USA. It's arguably a hybrid of tennis, badminton, and table tennis. It was invented by two people. In 2025, global pickleball racket production reached approximately 5.3391 million units, with an average global market price of approximately $60.8 per unit, and the industry's gross profit margin ranging from 20% to 30%. Pickleball rackets are the core hitting equipment in the sport of pickleball, typically consisting of a racket face + sandwich/integrated structure + honeycomb core + frame + handle. Unlike tennis rackets, Peak rackets are mostly solid plate structures, relying on the rebound properties of the racket face material and core material to achieve ball control, spin, and power output. According to the standards of competition compliance, the mainstream market usually regards USAP-certified/competition-approved rackets as 'benchmark products.' Their rules have clear constraints on dimensions (length ? 17 inches, length + width ? 24 inches), and limit performance boundaries such as racket face roughness/friction and 'trampoline effect' through a testing system to maintain fairness. Major global manufacturers of pickleball equipment include Escalade (Onix, Pickleball Now, Dura), Paddletek, Selkirk Sport, Pickleball Central, PROLITE Sports, Head, Gamma, and Engage. The top three manufacturers hold nearly 30% of the market share, with Escalade (Onix, Pickleball Now, Dura) being the largest. Global pickleball equipment production is primarily concentrated in North America, Europe, China, and Japan, with the top three regions accounting for over 90% of the market share, and North America being the largest production region. In terms of product type, pickle rackets are experiencing relatively rapid growth and hold the highest market share, exceeding 80%, followed by pickleballs. Regarding applications, offline sales are the largest market segment, accounting for over 65%, followed by online sales. With the continuous rise of pickleball, new companies and brands are constantly entering the market. Our industry monitoring shows:

In May 2022, there were 1331 Peak rackets certified by USAPA.

In April 2023, this number had reached 1800.

As of October 2024, the number of Peak rackets certified by USAPA exceeded 3700.

The pickleball paddles industry is not highly concentrated, with over a hundred manufacturers globally. High-end products mainly come from the United States and Western Europe.

Global giants are primarily located in the United States and the European Union.

American manufacturers have a long history in this field and their position is unshakeable. Although many manufacturers choose to manufacture in Chinese factories, the main consumer market remains in developed countries. In recent years, many new entrants have emerged in the industry, such as Vulcan Sporting Goods, Wilson Sporting Goods, Your Pickleball Place, and Adidas. These new entrants have used their brand effect and more complete sales network to squeeze the market share of established manufacturers, making industry competition more intense.
