Abstracts

The global Plain Gold Jewellery market size is expected to reach $ 93280 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 3.9% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032). Plain gold jewellery refers to gold ornaments made primarily of pure gold (?99%) or 24K gold (?99.9%), without gemstone settings. They are typically made through casting, forging, and engraving processes to showcase the natural color and texture of gold. Common styles include gold rings, bracelets, necklaces, and pendants, widely used for weddings, festivals, investments, and everyday wear. The average price is approximately $862 per piece, with global sales of approximately 80 million pieces. Plain gold jewelry is not only an ornament but also a dual symbol of culture and wealth. In Eastern culture, it carries the meaning of auspiciousness, inheritance, and blessings, and is a frequent feature on important occasions such as weddings, full moon celebrations, and birthday banquets. With continuous innovation in craftsmanship, new technologies such as traditional gold work, hard gold, and 3D gold have transformed plain gold jewelry from 'heavy and valuable' to 'light and fashionable,' attracting more and more young consumers. In the future, plain gold jewelry that blends traditional craftsmanship with modern design will continue to shine in both emotional expression and asset allocation.

This report studies the global Plain Gold Jewellery production, demand, key manufacturers, and key regions.

This report is a detailed and comprehensive analysis of the world market for Plain Gold Jewellery and provides market size (US$ million) and Year-over-Year (YoY) Growth, considering 2025 as the base year. This report explores demand trends and competition, as well as details the characteristics of Plain Gold Jewellery that contribute to its increasing demand across many markets.
