Abstracts

Plastomers or polyolefin plastomers (POP) are a class of high-performance polymers. The uniqueness of this plastic lies in their toughness, clarity, and excellent sealability, which is a result of their molecular build up. They are low-density with narrow composition distribution and narrow molecular weight distribution.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Plastomers in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. The U.S. and Europe are the largest markets of packaged food. Growth in the packaged food industry depends on growth of population. The slow growth in population along with rise in importance of organic food products is affecting the market growth. Films manufactured for food packaging applications account for a major consumption of plastomers. Therefore, decrease in demand from the packaging industry of the U.S. and Europe restricts the growth of the global plastomer market.

The worldwide market for Plastomers is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
