Abstracts

Polyolefins are the biggest class of commodity thermoplastics. These polymers are made of simple alkenes, which include ethylene, propylene, butenes, and pentenes, and their copolymers. Polyethylene (PE) and polypropylene (PP) are the two most widely used polyolefins in the world.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Polyolefin in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

In 2017, PE accounted for the largest market share, in terms of value and volume, and is projected to register the second-fastest growth in the PO market, between 2018 and 2023, owing to its superior properties and cost advantages over other PO products.

Asia-Pacific dominates the market owing to increased population and rising demand for plastic products. The rising demand for high-quality PO products with superior physical properties has significantly increased the growth of the region's process industry, which consequently has triggered the demand for PO. Film & sheet and injection molding are the top two end-use applications contributing to the growing demand for PO in Asia-Pacific.

The worldwide market for Polyolefin is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
