Professional Security Services (PSS) refer to commercially provided security solutions delivered by licensed private security companies to protect people, property, assets, and operations. These services typically include on-site guarding, mobile patrols, executive and close protection, event security, cash-in-transit, risk assessment, and security consulting. PSS providers operate on a contractual basis and serve commercial enterprises, government agencies, industrial facilities, critical infrastructure, and special events, emphasizing compliance, professionalism, and risk mitigation rather than law enforcement or military functions.

The upstream of the Professional Security Services industry mainly includes human resources supply (licensed security personnel, training institutions), security equipment and technology providers (surveillance systems, access control, alarm systems, communication devices), and security management software vendors. The downstream primarily consists of commercial enterprises, government and public sector organizations, industrial and infrastructure operators, financial institutions, and event organizers that outsource security functions to professional service providers.
