Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Real Estate Notary Service market size was valued at US$ 1734 million in 2025 and is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 2260 million by 2032 with a CAGR of 3.9% during review period.

Real estate notarization services encompass scenarios such as real estate sales, mortgage loans, refinancing, property transfer, inheritance, gifts, powers of attorney, marital property agreements, property disposal declarations, cross-border real estate document use, and electronic real estate settlement. These services are provided by legally authorized notary offices, notaries, loan signing agents, electronic settlement platforms, or remote online notarization platforms. They verify, authenticate, witness, or electronically notarize the identity of the parties involved, the signing process, their expression of intent, the authenticity of documents, transaction authorization, the form of legal documents, and the signing record.

From a demand structure perspective, real estate transaction cycles, mortgage interest rates, refinancing activity, cross-border property holdings, population mobility, inheritance and gift arrangements, convenience of remote transactions, and judicial/compliance requirements collectively determine market demand. In the US market, mortgage settlement and refinancing are highly sensitive to demand for signing agents, mobile notarization, and RON platforms; in the European market, real estate transactions, loans, and inheritance scenarios have a rigid institutional basis for notary services; in the Chinese market, real estate-related power of attorney, inheritance, property disposal declarations, overseas remote video notarization, and notarized document verification are important growth areas. As user habits shift from offline counters to online appointments, remote video, electronic signatures, and digital archives, service growth does not primarily come from a significant increase in the number of traditional business transactions, but rather from process digitization, improved cross-regional delivery efficiency, and platform-based services replacing fragmented offline services.
