Refrigerated Trailer Leasing refers to a commercial service offering the short-term or long-term rental of semi-trailers equipped with integrated refrigeration or temperature-control systems (reefers). This service is essential for meeting the demands of cold chain logistics, ensuring that temperature-sensitive cargo?such as perishable foods, pharmaceuticals, and biological materials?is maintained within a specific, controlled temperature range throughout the transportation process. Leasing agreements typically cover routine maintenance, insurance, and technical support for the trailers, providing transport companies with a solution for temperature-controlled shipping that minimizes capital expenditure and maximizes operational flexibility.
