Abstracts

Release coatings are commonly used to prevent things from sticking together. These coatings prevent adhesion between surfaces and minimize material loss. Proper curing of release coatings helps in peeling the release liner from the adhesives before sticking them on labels, tapes, envelopes, postage stamps, and others.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Release Coating in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Based on material, the silicone segment is projected to grow at the highest CAGR between 2018 and 2023. Silicone-based release coatings are used in postage stamps, envelopes, and bar code labels. Silicone, as additives, helps provide resistance to slip, moisture, and abrasion; improved adhesion; anti-blocking properties; gloss; and foam control. Increasing demand for silicone-based release coatings from various end-use industries such as automotive, medical, and packaging will drive the growth of this segment during the next few years.

The worldwide market for Release Coating is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
