Abstracts

Sevoflurane is a sweet-smelling, nonflammable, highly fluorinated methyl isopropyl ether used as an inhalational anaesthetic for induction and maintenance of general anesthesia. After desflurane, it is the volatile anesthetic with the fastest onset and offset.

Isoflurane is a general anesthetic. It can be used to start or maintain anesthesia. Often another medication is used to start anesthesia due to airway irritation with isoflurane. It is used by inhalation.

Desflurane is a highly fluorinated methyl ethyl ether used for maintenance of general anesthesia. Like halothane, enflurane, and isoflurane, it is a racemic mixture of (R) and (S) optical isomers (enantiomers). Together with sevoflurane, it is gradually replacing isoflurane for human use, except in economically undeveloped areas, where its high cost precludes its use. It has the most rapid onset and offset of the volatile anesthetic drugs used for general anesthesia due to its low solubility in blood.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Sevoflurane, Isoflurane and Desflurane in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

Increasing prevalence of cardiovascular and respiratory diseases and population growth are expected to fuel the market. The large amount of sevoflurane, isoflurane and desflurane need to be used to help patients reduce pain. Cataract surgery is a major contributor to the global market. A major factor hindering the market is the quantity of CO₂ released in the environment, leading to global warming. The United States occupies the biggest share in the worldwide inhalation anesthesia market in 2014. Asia Pacific will experience the fastest growth owing to the rise of chronic diseases and demand for better health infrastructure in the region.

The worldwide market for Sevoflurane, Isoflurane and Desflurane is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
