Abstracts

Signature verification is an authentication method that uses the dynamic feature of a person's handwritten signature. Signatures are unique and are used for verification by financial organizations, businesses, and governments to authorize transactions and documents. Signature verification is considered as an important authentication technique among all the most popular biometric-based authentication methods in personal identification and verification. It uses characteristics of a person's signature that includes pen lifts, speed, and direction of pen strokes to authenticate identity.

Scope of the Report:

This report studies the Signature Verification market status and outlook of Global and major regions, from angles of players, countries, product types and end industries; this report analyzes the top players in global market, and splits the Signature Verification market by product type and applications/end industries.

The dynamic signature verification technology is quickly replacing paper-based signatures as it enables the reduction of the transaction time and the expenses related to manual paper-based processes and also increases compliance and security. Additionally, this technology provides significant benefits such as automatic detection of any changes made to the document, immediate invalidation of the signatures in case of any unauthorized access to the document, and notifications to all the parties involved.

The BFSI sector is increasingly preferring the usage of secure and convenient biometric technologies such as iris and facial recognition to avoid time delays, ensure accuracy, and prevent the loss of critical and confidential data of the customers. Additionally, the rising incidents of security breaches and transaction fraud in the BFSI sector are also influencing the demand for highly secure identification and verification methods such as electronic signatures.

The global Signature Verification market is valued at xx million USD in 2017 and is expected to reach xx million USD by the end of 2023, growing at a CAGR of xx% between 2017 and 2023.

The Asia-Pacific will occupy for more market share in following years, especially in China, also fast growing India and Southeast Asia regions.

North America, especially The United States, will still play an important role which cannot be ignored. Any changes from United States might affect the development trend of Signature Verification.

Europe also play important roles in global market, with market size of xx million USD in 2017 and will be xx million USD in 2023, with a CAGR of xx%.

Market Segment by Companies, this report covers
