Abstracts

Ski wax is a material applied to the bottom of snow runners, including skis, snowboards, and toboggans, to improve their coefficient of friction performance under varying snow conditions. The two main types of wax used on skis are glide waxes and grip waxes. They address kinetic friction—to be minimized with a glide wax—and static friction—to be achieved with a grip wax. Both types of wax are designed to be matched with the varying properties of snow, including crystal type and size, and moisture content of the snow surface, which vary with temperature and the temperature history of the snow. Glide wax is selected to minimize sliding friction for both alpine and cross-country skiing. Grip wax (also called "kick wax") provides on-snow traction for cross-country skiers, as they stride forward using classic technique.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Ski Wax in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. The preeminent competitors in the Global Ski Wax market have been applying various tactics for making an entry as well as developing in the Ski Wax market. On a worldwide basis, the count of recognized companies is elevating and hence it is necessary for every market company to get a enthusiastic edge on others. The primary tactics accepted by the well-known companies for grapple in the Ski Wax market include amelioration of new product, partnerships, mergers, agreements and procurement. The worldwide market for Ski Wax is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
