According to our latest research, the global Small and Medium Tanker Transportation market size will reach USD 14380 million in 2031, growing at a CAGR of 1.3% over the analysis period.

Small and medium-sized tanker transportation refers to the shipping and logistics services provided by tankers, typically between 10,000 and 60,000 DWT (deadweight tons), which are primarily used to transport refined petroleum products, and in some cases, crude oil, on regional and short-sea routes. With the flexibility to call at smaller ports and navigate limited waterways, these tankers are critical for intra-regional fuel distribution, last mile deliveries in the petroleum supply chain, and operations in areas inaccessible to larger tankers.
