Abstracts

The global Soft Gelatin Capsules (Softgels) market size is expected to reach $ 6464 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 4.2% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Soft Gelatin Capsules, also called softgels, are manufactured as single piece capsule shell. It is a type of capsule with a solid outer shell and inner surrounding a liquid or semi-solid (inner fill) active ingredient that can be incorporated into the outer shell, the inner fill, or both.

The soft capsule market is undergoing a profound transformation from ?natural raw materials? to ?technological innovation?. The driving factors mainly include: Firstly, the acceleration of global aging and the enhanced preventive health awareness of consumers have promoted the expansion of the application of lipid-soluble nutrients such as fish oil and coenzyme Q10 in soft capsule formulations; Secondly, the maturity of plant-based soft capsules (such as starch gum and carrageenan) technology meets the diverse cultural demands of veganism, clean eating, and halal, and solves the thermal instability problem of traditional gelatin; Finally, the combination of advanced pharmaceutical processes such as microemulsification technology with soft capsules significantly improves the bioavailability of poorly soluble drugs, enabling more prescription drugs to choose soft capsules as the drug delivery carrier.
