Abstracts

The global Sweet Peanut Butter market size is expected to reach $ 6321 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 4.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

In 2025, global sweetened peanut butter sales volume was approximately 1,630 kilotonnes, with an average selling price of about US$2.79 per kg. Sweetened peanut butter is a ready-to-eat, semi-solid peanut spread made primarily from roasted peanuts through skin removal, grinding, formulation, homogenization and stabilization, with sucrose, glucose, honey, syrup, sugar alcohols or other sweeteners added to provide a distinct sweet taste. The product is mainly offered in smooth, crunchy and other texture formats, using fat stabilization, particle-size control and emulsification technologies to improve spreadability, texture consistency, oil-separation resistance and shelf-life stability. It is supplied in jars, cups, pouches and foodservice bulk packages for household spreading, breakfast and snack consumption, as well as for use as an ingredient or filling in foodservice preparation, bakery products, confectionery, frozen desserts and other processed foods.

1. Growing Demand for Convenient Breakfast and Snack Foods The increasing preference for convenient and ready-to-eat foods continues to support market growth. Sweetened peanut butter offers easy storage, flexible consumption methods and high energy density, making it suitable for bread, toast, sandwiches and snacks, thereby supporting steady household demand. 2. Expanding Penetration in Emerging Markets While North America and Europe represent mature markets, rising modern retail penetration, e-commerce development and changing food consumption habits in India, Southeast Asia, China, Latin America and Africa are creating new growth opportunities. Both local and international brands are introducing products tailored to regional tastes, accelerating market adoption. 3. Product Innovation Expands Consumption Scenarios
