Abstracts

Washed Concrete Sand is washed fine sand for concrete. Concrete sand is a type of washed sand that is mined from the ground. From there, the sand is screened and washed to remove fine silt and other contaminants. Concrete sand is mainly used for asphalt and concrete applications and is made into actual concrete by mixing it with cement and water. Once mixed, it is ready to be poured and smoothed before any finishing touches are applied. Asphalt is made in pretty much the same way but is heated to remove excess moisture before being mixed with crushed stone and coated with asphalt.
